

Privacy Notice

Data Classification	Public Data
Author	Regulatory Compliance Manager
Approval	Legal Director
Last updated	February 2024

Background

This Privacy Notice explains how we hold, collect and process your personal information in accordance with data protection laws. It explains why we collect personal information, what we collect, how we use it, who we share it with and how we protect it. It also details the rights available to you in relation to your personal information, how to exercise those rights and what to do if more information is required.

This notice applies to all personal information we hold in the context of a contractual relationship with prospective, current and former subcontractors. It is important that you read and retain this notice, together with any other notice we provide on specific occasions when we are collecting or processing personal information about you, so that you are aware of how and why we are using that information and your rights. We shall keep this notice under regular review.

Any reference to “personal information” in this notice means any information relating to a living individual, from which that living individual can be identified directly or indirectly (in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person). We do not consider anonymous data, or data where the identity of the individual has been irretrievably removed, personal information.

Who are we?

The company named on your contract, PayStream My Max Limited (“My Max”), is part of the PayStream group of companies, of Mansion House, Manchester Road, Altrincham, WA14 4RW, which we refer to as ‘us’ and ‘we’ in this Privacy Notice.

Whilst My Max is the entity which engages you to work on temporary assignments for external third parties, PayStream Accounting Services Limited (“PAS”) is the entity which employs internal staff to operate the running of the business and for making decisions as to the data we collect from you and how such data is processed.

As such, PAS is a Data Controller as defined by Article 4(7) of the UK GDPR and on the instruction of PAS, we process data as outlined in the following privacy notice.

How do we obtain your personal information?

A recruitment business and/or a colleague or end client may provide and confirm personal information to us such as your name and contact details, both prior to our engagement with you and/or throughout the engagement (in order to set up subsequent assignments, for instance). Alternatively, you may have contacted us directly, either via our website or otherwise and in doing so may provide us your personal information.

As well as by email, via post or over the phone, personal information may be provided to us via our website, phone application (“app”) and/or our online web portal (“portal”).

We endeavour to keep safe any personal information that we collect, however it is obtained.

What personal information do we hold?

We may collect and hold a range of personal information about you which is relevant to your role and engagement with us and we will continue to collect additional personal information throughout. The type and volume of data we hold is dependent on the services and contract you have with us. Such personal information includes but is not necessarily limited to:

- Personal details, including name, address, nationality, gender, date of birth, bank details and National Insurance (NI) number;
- Contact details and preferences, including postal address, email address, mobile, home and work phone numbers (where applicable);
- Statutory entitlements (where applicable);
- Information and documentation relating to your identity and right to work in the UK and any associated checks we may carry out;
- Information relating to payments made to you (such as name, address, date of birth, national insurance (NI), bank details, invoice details, UTR number, CIS deductions, and fees);
- Any disputes such as complaints or claims (where applicable);
- Assignment information (such as start dates, termination dates, client name etc.);
- In rare instances, health information, for example, accident at work records (as applicable);
- In rare instances, criminal records data, which may be processed as part of onboarding processes and/or, where necessary, in the course of the engagement;
- Biometric Data (included in your identity and/or right to work documents for example) which may be processed as part of our onboarding processes and/or, where necessary in the course of your engagement;
- All incoming and outgoing calls;
- All incoming and outgoing emails that you send to us from a known email address;
- Timesheet processing and records (as applicable);
- Information about the Internet Protocol (IP) address of devices used to access our website, portal and/or app, along with user information where certain actions are performed (such as when a user selects a certain option during the subcontractor onboarding process for instance). Where you use the portal or app, certain anonymous information about the device you are using is also recorded automatically, such as the operating system, device settings, unique device identifiers and crash data (data analytics). The type of information collected depends on the type of device you are using. To learn more about what information your device makes available to us, please check the policies of your device manufacturer or software provider.

Why do we need your personal information?

There are various reasons why we need to collect, store and use your personal information. Generally:

- Prior to the engagement, we need personal information in order that we can get you set up quickly, so that we can call, text and email you to encourage you to complete the onboarding process and requirements (such as signing the contract for services and completing checks of your identity and/or right to work in the UK).
- Once the engagement has begun, we need to retain your personal information to manage the contract, discharge our legal and contractual duties, deal with contract, legal and/or insurance claims as necessary, and to respond to queries.
- Once your assignment(s) have terminated, we retain personal information to comply with our legal requirements and in our legitimate interests.

In all cases, we only collect, store and/or process your personal data where we have a lawful basis to do so. The lawful basis for our collection and use of your personal information may vary depending on the manner and purpose for which we collected it.

Most commonly, we will collect, store and/or process personal information where we are required to comply with a legal obligation, for the performance of the contract we hold with you and/or where it is necessary for our legitimate interests in a way that you might reasonably expect to be a part of running our business and that does not significantly impact your interests, rights, and freedoms.

We have provided examples of how and when we rely on each of these bases below.

In order to comply with legal obligations, for example:

- We need to process your information for tax and reporting purposes.
- We may be under a legal obligation (and in some instances, may also be required for the performance of a contract) to provide information about you and the engagement in response to a third-party request (for debt-collection or legal/tax investigation purposes, for example).
- Furthermore, in some circumstances, we may collect information about your health to comply with obligations in the field of health and safety law.

For the performance of our contract with you, for example:

- We need to fulfil our contractual obligations, such as to pay you. We may also notify you from time to time of any contractual matters pursuant to your engagement with us.

In our legitimate interests, for example:

- There are various reasons why we may contact you in relation to your contract with us and any other services. Whilst this is not always in respect of marketing, we may send you marketing for instance in respect of services we provide; newsletters, industry news or safety bulletins on local environmental issues; information in relation to local events, holidays or festivals. We may also ask you to participate in voluntary surveys or competitions from time to time. We use surveys, reviews and marketing tools to get your feedback and make continuous improvements and to keep you informed of any news which may affect your engagement with us. This may include enhancements to our website, app or portal or other IT capabilities.
- If you agree to the terms of our rewards scheme and choose to send a referral to us which includes personal information of your colleague, then we will use personal information to contact your colleague to introduce ourselves and will retain the details provided in line with the retention schedule outlined within this notice.
- Our website and portal use cookies (small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites) and we may record information about the Internet Protocol (IP) address of your device and data analytics to help provide you with the best experience we can.

Further detail around why we require certain pieces of personal information are recorded below:

Personal Information	Primary Reason Obtained	Lawful Basis
Personal details, such as name, address, nationality, gender, date of birth, bank details and National Insurance (NI) number;	To contact you, pay you and to comply with our legal reporting requirements.	Performance of a Contract Legal Obligation
Contact details and preferences, including postal address, email address, mobile, home and work phone numbers (where applicable);	So that we (and in certain circumstances, our third-party providers) can contact you (whether prior to, during or in limited circumstances, after your employment has ended), to manage the employment relationship and in line with our legitimate interests. We may for instance send marketing to you, or, otherwise contact you to offer you,	Performance of a Contract Legitimate Interests at our discretion, a financial reward in return for you referring a colleague to us. We may contact you via post, phone and/or email or via the app. If you don't want to receive marketing contact from us you can let us know at any time.

Information and documentation relating to the checking of your identity and your right to work in the UK;	In order to fulfil our legal duties as an employer to verify our employees and their right to work and identity. We check your right to work and identity and use external databases to do this and we will ask for documentation to support this. We will treat your identity and right to work documentation with upmost care and provide it with appropriate safeguards for your fundamental rights and interests.	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interests
Information relating to your pay (name, address, date of birth, national insurance (NI), bank details, gross to net pay, tax code), monitoring attendance; compromise agreements and settlement payments (where relevant); timesheet processing and records (including any expenses);	In order to pay you effectively and to comply with our legal reporting requirements.	Performance of a Contract Legal Obligation Legitimate Interests
Any complaints;	To manage the contract.	Legitimate Interests Performance of a Contract
Assignment Information (Such as start and termination dates, name of end client etc.);	To fulfil our contractual obligations.	Performance of a Contract Legal Obligation
Health information (if applicable), for example, in relation to an accident at work if required under health and safety law;	To ensure that we are complying with our legal obligations (including but not limited to in respect of health and safety). In certain circumstances, we may also need to share this information with third parties. See our Special Category and Criminal Records Data policy for more information.	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interests Such processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, on the basis of Domestic Law which shall be proportionate to the aim pursued, respect the essence of the right to data protection and provide for suitable and specific measures to safeguard the fundamental rights and the interests of the data subject, as permitted by the Data Protection Act 2018.
Criminal records data, which may be processed as part of onboarding processes and/or, where necessary, in the course of the contract;	Criminal Records data to verify that candidates are suitable for engagement, or continued engagement, and to comply with legal, contractual and/or regulatory obligations to which we are subject. See our Special Category and Criminal Records Data policy for more information.	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interests Such processing is also necessary to comply with regulatory requirements to establish whether or not someone has committed an unlawful act or been involved in dishonesty, malpractice or other seriously improper conduct, as permitted by the Data Protection Act 2018.

Biometric Data (Including photographic images) which may be processed as part of onboarding and/or, where necessary, in the course of your engagement;	In our legitimate interests to check for instance your identity and/or right to work in the UK, we may process such data where contained within right to work and identity documentation, either directly or via third party provider. See our Special Category and Criminal Records Data policy for more information.	Legitimate Interest. Such processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, on the basis of Domestic Law which shall be proportionate to the aim pursued, respect the essence of the right to data protection and provide for suitable and specific measures to safeguard the fundamental rights and the interests of the data subject, as permitted by the Data Protection Act 2018.
All incoming and outgoing calls and all incoming and outgoing emails that you send to us from a known email address;	For quality and audit purposes and for use where necessary in dealing with queries, complaints and legal issues if they arise.	Legitimate Interests
Cookies and information about the Internet Protocol (IP) address of devices used to access our website, portal and/or app, along with user information where certain actions are performed (such as when a user selects a certain option during the subcontractor onboarding process for instance); and anonymous information about the device you are using, such as the operating system, device settings, unique device identifiers and crash data (data analytics).	In order for us to monitor the level of activity and service we provide and to improve the application. See our Cookie Policy for more information around our use of cookies.	Legitimate Interests

Note, the lists provided in this section are not exhaustive. Some of the above grounds for processing will overlap and there may be several grounds which justify our use of your personal information. There may also be additional or new legal requirements for instance that we or you need to adhere to from time to time which mean we are required to obtain and process your personal information.

As well as within the United Kingdom, personal information may be transferred to and processed in other jurisdictions where our third-party suppliers have operations. Whilst it is expected that any transfer of personal data will usually remain within the EEA in the vast majority of cases, on the rare occasion personal information is required to be transferred to a country outside the EEA without adequate data protection laws, then unless an exemption for restricted transfers apply, we will ensure such transfers are made in compliance with the requirements of relevant data protection laws (for example, by putting in place Standard Contractual Clauses where applicable).

We may also need to process your personal information without your knowledge or consent where this is required or permitted by law, and may use your personal information in the following situations; however, these are likely to be rare:

- Where have your explicit consent
- Where we need to protect your interests (or someone else's interests)
- Where it is needed in the public interest or for official purposes

How long do we hold your personal data for?

Personal information collected by us will be held for as long as it is required to fulfil the purpose it was collected and to protect our business and our rights. The length of time we keep your information will depend on the type of information and the purpose for which it was obtained. To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider: the amount, nature and sensitivity of the personal data; the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data; the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means; and the applicable legal requirements.

Where we attempt to contact you to discuss a contract with us, but your application remains incomplete:

We will hold your personal information securely, for the purposes of our legitimate interests, for no more than 13 months from the date we first create an initial record for you on our internal system ("Creation Date"). Between 12-13 months from the Creation Date, the personal information that we hold about you will be deleted. During the period we do hold your personal information, we may contact you periodically to re-engage you. This is subject to the following exception:

Where legal or contractual requirements and/or ongoing complaints mean that we must keep your information for longer than 13 months:	Relevant personal information shall be retained for as long as necessary and dealt with on a case-by-case basis.
---	--

Where you complete an application with us but your contract with us does not commence and no payments are due to you:

We will hold your personal information securely, for the purposes of our legitimate interests, for no more than 13 months from the latest date we logged you on our internal systems after your application was completed ("Logged Date"). Between 12-13 months from the Logged Date, the personal information that we hold about you will be deleted. During the period we do hold your personal information, we may contact you periodically to re-engage you. This is subject to the following exception:

Where legal or contractual requirements and/or ongoing complaints mean that we must keep your information for longer than 13 months:	Relevant personal information shall be retained for as long as necessary and dealt with on a case-by-case basis.
---	--

Where you complete an application with us, the contract with us commences and you receive payments from us:

We will hold your personal information securely, for no more than 7 years following the date of the last payment you received (the "Last Paid Date"). Between 6-7 years following the "Last Paid Date", the personal information that we hold about you will be deleted. This is subject to the following exceptions:

Where legal or contractual requirements and/or ongoing complaints mean that we must keep your information for longer than 7 years:	Relevant personal information retained for as long as necessary and dealt with on a case-by-case basis
Health surveillance resulting from work incident (if applicable):	Retained for no more than 101 years from the date of the last action.

Under some circumstances we may anonymise your personal information so that it can no longer be associated with you. We reserve the right to use such anonymous and de-identified data for any legitimate business purpose without further notice to you or your consent.

How will we use the information about you?

We have an internal IT system which logs your journey with us, from when you join, your payments and end of We have an internal IT system which logs your journey with us, from when you sign the contract, payments and end of your contract. Our internal staff also use this system to make notes. If for example, you call up with a pay query, we will record this activity on the system.

In certain circumstances, we may also need to share your information with others including third-party service providers who provide services to us or on our behalf. We will do so where we are required by law, to assist us with administering the contract with you, or where it is otherwise in our legitimate interests to do so. We only permit third parties to process your personal information for specified purposes in accordance with our instructions. Where we share data externally, we do this securely so as to reduce the likelihood of any data breach and we require third parties to respect the security of your data and to treat it in accordance with the law.

The most common reasons we may disclose your personal information are outlined in the table below:

Who may receive your personal information	Reason	Lawful Basis
Approved 3 rd parties:	To provide information to third parties, where you have notified us that you wish us to provide do so, such as, lending institutions or life assurance organisations. We will share the required information in accordance with your instructions.	Legitimate Interest Performance of a Contract
External organisations as necessary for the purposes of the detection and prevention of crime (including financial crime and fraud) and credit risk reduction; insurance and other claims	To comply with any legal obligation or duty, to enforce or apply our contract with you, terms of use or other agreements, or, to protect the rights, property, or safety of us, our subcontractors, employees, customers or others. This may include, but is not limited to, sharing information with our insurance broker, insurance underwriters or other third parties who may be investigating debt, legal and/or tax issues. In the unlikely event that you owe us money, we will take steps to recover our funds which may involve sending your information to an external debt collection agency. Where you owe us money but we cannot locate you, we will also send your name, contact details (phone and email), date of birth, National Insurance number and date of last contact (if any) to an external tracing service	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interest
Professionals and other advisers	We may share or disclose personal information to professional advisers we engage for any reasonable purpose in connection with our business, including assistance in protecting our rights	Legitimate Interests
Other external bodies	In limited circumstances, we may be required by law to disclose personal information to external bodies, such as local authorities and government departments. In these cases, we will only disclose the minimum amount of information required to satisfy our legal obligation. However, once the information is disclosed, we will not be able to control how it is used by those bodies.	Legal Obligation
Our subsidiaries, our ultimate holding company and its subsidiaries, as defined in section 1159 of the UK Companies Act 2006.	To comply with our legal obligations, to fulfil our contract with you and or otherwise for our legitimate interests, we may disclose your personal information to any member of our group	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interests

Your recruitment business and/or end client	To demonstrate our compliance, fulfill due diligence requests and/or to our contractual commitments. We may be required for instance to share details on your hours worked, payments, tax deductions, specific terms of your engagement, a copy of your invoice(s), right to work and/or identity documents, the results of our onboarding checks and/or your contract. Where we do so, we will do this securely where possible so as to reduce the likelihood of any data breach. We may also share your information with the recruitment business or other intermediary for which we hold a contract for the provision of services for the purposes of compliance with the contract or any other legal obligation such as for example, adherence to the Onshore Employment Intermediaries 2014 rules (section 44 of Chapter 7, Part 2 of ITEPA 2003)	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interest
Prospective recruitment businesses, end clients and/or other hirers	To comply with requests, for example or to demonstrate our compliance.	Legitimate Interest
Auditors and/or compliance assessors	In order to demonstrate our compliance, we may need to share your personal information in response to requests we receive from third parties, such as external auditors and compliance assessors (including but not limited to HMRC, FCSA, BDO, PwC and ICAEW). Depending on the circumstances, this may be a legal obligation and/or in our legitimate interests. Where we do disclose personal information for such purposes, we will do this securely where possible so as to reduce the likelihood of any data breach	Legal Obligation Legitimate Interests
Prospective seller(s) or buyer(s) of our business or assets	In the event that we sell or buy any business or assets, we may disclose your personal information to the prospective seller and/or buyer. If our company or substantially all of its assets are acquired by a third party, personal information held by it will be one of the transferred assets	Legitimate Interests
Social Media followers and/or other individuals we engage or employ	In the event you win one of our competitions for example, we may share your name (only) within a marketing campaign, either on social media or by email to our social media followers or other individuals we engage or employ	Legitimate Interests

Third Party Software and Service Providers / Other Suppliers

In some instances, we use external providers, persons or companies who provide products or services to allow us to operate as a business and fulfill our contract with you as your employer, including administering or managing our relationship with our employees. For example, we use:

Who may receive your personal information	Reason	Lawful Basis
Online form filling software providers:	To allow us to collect data and information from you in order to provide our services. Data provided to us via such software is forwarded to us securely	Legitimate Interests Performance of a Contract
Text Message provider:	To allow us to send text messages to you. The data required for this includes the receiving phone number, and any information contained in the text message	Legitimate Interests

FAQ and Chat function providers	To provide FAQs and a secure live chat feature on our portal, app and website. Such providers will only have access to personal data when you fill in a query. Your enquiry will be logged on the provider's dashboard and will contain whatever contact information you provide	Legitimate Interests
Call back software providers	On certain pages of our website to enable our website users to receive an immediate call back from a member of our new business team once they have submitted an enquiry form. This process involves transferring the contact phone number that is populated on the contact form. A copy of the number along with the pages the user has visited on the website is stored. This information is gathered via the use of a tracking cookie on our website	Legitimate Interests
Identity Verification Service Providers (and the Home Office)	To ensure you have the right to work in the UK and to verify your identity. We use information (including personal information) in your entitlement to work documents to carry out necessary onboarding checks. In order to verify your identity and/or verify your right to work in the UK and to allow us to register you quickly, the data you provide during the subcontractor onboarding process on our app/portal will be checked by our third-party provider against a number of databases. Depending on the documentation provided, we may also share personal information with the Home Office to check the validity of a document. If you have a right to work document that is capable of being checked via their online service (such as an online share code), then we will use the relevant details to check your right to work via the online service. Where you do not, in certain circumstances (such as where you have an outstanding appeal or application with the Home Office, an Application Registration Card or a Certificate of Application, for instance), then we may instead check your right to work using the Home Office Employer Checking Service	Legitimate Interests Legal Obligation
External companies who offer benefits	From time-to-time, we may choose at our discretion to offer to you benefits provided by an external company, and/or we may introduce you to a third-party company where we believe there may be a benefit to you (such as a recommended mortgage provider, for instance). Where we do so, personal information such as your name and contact details will be passed to the third-party provider. This information and/or any information you go on to supply to the provider directly may be passed to further third parties as and when you sign up to a particular offering. Each provider will have their own privacy policy to provide to you on request in order for you to make an informed decision prior to signing up	Legitimate Interests
Data Storage Providers (Including cloud providers)	To back up and store data and documents we hold (including expense receipts, timesheet attachments, and invoices/credit notes). All data is stored in UK data centres and sensitive documents will have additional encryption	Legitimate Interests

Data Sanitisation, Security and Destruction providers	To sanitise, secure and archive all inbound, internal and outbound emails. All emails undergo various best-practice checks / processes and the content is scanned for malicious content / markers. We also use an external company for document destruction services. They help ensure that client and confidential business information is kept secure at all times as legally required.	Legitimate Interests Legal Obligation
--	---	--

Marketing and Analytics

We may also share personal information with third parties in our legitimate interests for marketing and business analysis purposes. For instance, we may share personal information with:

Who may receive your personal information	Reason	Lawful Basis
Marketing software provider(s):	To manage and send out emails and marketing campaigns, in an efficient, targeted, secure and easy way via email and marketing automation software in line with our legitimate interests. This may involve uploading your name, email address, the internal ID we have allocated you and our company name.	Legitimate Interests
Review and Feedback provider(s)	To collect your feedback and to improve our services and products. We will share your name, email address and reference number with them in order for them to contact you via email to invite you to review any services and/or products you received from us. In some instances, your IP address may be collected, stored and/or accessed by us and our external supplier where you complete a survey that has been sent to you. We may also use such reviews in other promotional material and media for our advertising and promotional purposes.	Legitimate Interests
Data Analytics Software provider(s)	To allow us to attribute generated revenue to each website channel. We use an external supplier to provide Marketing Analytics Software via the use of a tracking cookie on our website. The processing involves matching data (such as your name, email address or telephone number) with data that the provider gathers and stores via the tracking cookie.	Legitimate Interests
Web Journey Tracking Software provider(s)	To identify the webpage(s) a user has visited on our website before calling our business, via the use of a tracking cookie. The software supplies information of a user's web journey, and passes the contact number that calls our office via the website into the call tracking platform, where a copy of the number along with the web page the call was made from is stored.	Legitimate Interests

How we protect your Personal Data

We take data protection seriously and we recognise the importance of personal information entrusted to us. We are committed to safeguarding the privacy and security of the information that we gather concerning our prospective, current and former subcontractors.

We have implemented appropriate physical, technical, and organisational security measures designed to secure your personal information against accidental loss and unauthorised access, use, alteration, or disclosure. We keep our computer systems, files and buildings secure by following legal requirements and security guidance, make sure that all staff are trained on how to protect personal information and that our processes clearly identify the requirements for managing personal information. We regularly audit our systems and processes to ensure that we remain compliant with our policies and legal obligations.

All personal information will be treated with the utmost care and we take steps to ensure that all information we collect about you is adequate, relevant, not excessive, and processed for limited purposes.

Whilst we may not seek explicit consent from you for processing your personal information, we will only do so in accordance with this Privacy Notice, unless otherwise required by applicable law. In the unlikely event that we need to use it in a significantly different way, we will provide you with an updated Privacy Notice.

Your rights

You have a number of rights in respect of your personal information.

Right of access

You have the right to request a copy of the information that we hold about you. There are some limitations (for example, if the data also relates to another person and we do not have that person's consent, or if the data is subject to legal privilege). Where there is data that we cannot disclose, we will explain this to you. We may refuse to comply or charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded or excessive. We may need to request specific information to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access the information. This is an appropriate security measure to ensure that information is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. If you would like a copy of some or all of your personal information, please email our Privacy Team.

Right to rectification

We want to make sure that your personal information is accurate and up to date. Please ask us to correct or remove information you think is inaccurate.

Right to erasure

In certain circumstances, you may have the right to have some or all of your personal information deleted from our records. This does not provide an absolute 'right to be forgotten' and applies only in these specific circumstances: where your personal information is no longer necessary in relation to the purpose for which it was originally collected/processed, you withdraw consent, you object to the processing and there is no overriding legitimate interest for continuing the processing, we unlawfully processed your personal information and, where your personal information has to be erased in order to comply with a legal obligation. You can request deletion of your personal information, by contacting our Privacy Team.

Right to restrict processing

Where we have based our processing on our legitimate interests, you have the right to object to the processing or restrict us processing your information in this way. We will need to demonstrate that our legitimate interests are sufficiently compelling to override your interests or rights, or that purpose is to establish or defend legal claims.

Right to data portability

Where we have based our processing on the performance of a contract, you will have the right to receive this information from us in a structured, commonly used way and have the right to send this to someone else.

Right to object

You have the right to object to processing of your personal data in certain circumstances. If you have provided consent to the collection, processing and transfer of your personal data for a specific purpose, you can withdraw consent for that specific processing by contacting the Privacy Team, after which time we will no longer process your information for the purpose(s) you originally agreed to, unless we have another legitimate basis for doing so in law.

Rights related to automated decision-making including profiling

We do not envisage that any decisions will be taken about you using solely automated means. Should this change, you will not be subject to decisions that will have a significant impact on you based solely on automated decision-making, unless we have a lawful basis and have notified you. If we make an automated decision based on any sensitive personal information, we will request your explicit written consent unless this is justified in the public interest, with appropriate measures in place to safeguard your right.

How to contact us

It is important that the personal data we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal information changes. If you fail to provide certain information when requested, we may not be able to perform the contract we have with you (such as paying you or providing a benefit), or we may be prevented from complying with our legal obligations.

If you want to review, verify, correct or request erasure of your personal information, object to the processing of your personal data (including if you wish to opt out of direct marketing), want to request that we transfer a copy of your personal information to another party, or, if you have any questions about our Privacy Notice or the information, we hold about you please contact the Privacy Team:

- By Email: privacyteam@paystream.co.uk, or
- By Post: Privacy Team, Mansion House, Manchester Road, Altrincham, WA14 4RW.

Our Data Protection Officer can be reached at the same address and email. If you are unhappy with the way we use your personal information, we would appreciate the opportunity to respond to your concerns directly in the first instance. You also have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) via their website.